FASHION FANCIES.
Bronze and crimson form a fash-ionable combination.
Small bonnets and large round hats are announced for the next season.
A novel ornament for "porte-bon-neus" is a small hump-backed figure in silver or gold.
The newest ribbon for trimming comes velvet on one side and corded-like sicilienne on the other.
Garnet jewelry is gradually creep-ing back into fashion again, and the price of the stones has advanced.
Pepper-and-salt mixtures, mottled cloths and undefined stripes and plaids are the rule in all the new woollens for traveling dresses.
Rifle-green of the darkest shade is at present the fashionable Paris color for trimming hats and for the many flowing bows that form the garniture of summer dresses.
There are various ways of dressing the hair. It may be arranged with the long catogan braid to fall over the shoulder and the front of the hair waved over the forehead. Young girls wear their hair low down in the back, either in curls or braids, and have their front hair crimped. Another way is to have a small piece of the front hair crimped and the remainder combed in three thick ringlets. An-other style is the flat coiffure, with the back hair twisted or braided and the front smooth, with a small straight bang. If the hair is dressed for an entertainment there may be a flower near the left ear.
Among the most favored hats are the "Girondin" shapes. They have straight brims and rather high crowns. The trimmings consist of several rows of ribbon velvet taken around the crown, and ostrich plumes. There is an occasional variation in the shape of these hats. Some have narrow brims, in which case there is a bunch of plumes on the left side. If the brim is broad a long amazon plume is used. Great partiality is shown this year in Paris for fine gray straw hats raised on the sides. All the trimmings for these are in the shade of the straw. The brim is lined with velvet. Around the crown is a long gauze veil, which is long enough to be taken around the neck.

Even the pigeon is steel gray; it is placed near the edge of the brim of the hat among the gauze folds. All kinds of birds are to trim autumn bonnets. Among the plaits in dra-peries are to be nets of tiny birds with plumage of every color. The larger birds include doves, pigeons, paroquets and pheasants.

A private letter from Paris says: "The Parisienne of fashion rarely wears ruching round her neck on the street; the plainest description of linen collars are worn instead. Lace is reserved entirely for evening wear. Embroideries are still in high favor. In tuell batiste and gauze the design of fine flowers, done in delicate shades of silk, are charming. Guipure lace of delicate pattern is much used to turn cachemire de l'inde, voile or bergaline. The colors most in favor are steel gray, corinthine and turquoise. The fashionable 'wrap' is covered al-most entirely with 'grelots' of jet, the ends crossed at the waist and fasten-ed at the hips by a jet ornament. Sometimes they have a huge bow of lace or satin ribbon at the bosom, the ends falling as low as the knees. A pelisse, which appears to be a great success, and is frequently to be seen in the 'Bois,' is made in soft, colored silk, lined with surah of a brighter hue. I have especially admired one in Scabieuse silk, lined with peach blossom surah. These 'wraps' en-velope the form, without being in the least cumbersome, and have a beau-tiful effect. Sand de bœuf is the not very refreshing name given to a bril-liant shade now offered in vogue. A new tint of white is called magnolia.

It pays better to sell chickens while young. They bring higher prices than old fowls, food is saved and many losses prevented.—N. Y. Herald.

There is no gain in plowing up sod land in the fall. The most approved practice in the culture of Indian corn, which requires a greater degree of heat than other crops, is to plow in the spring, turning the sod under of sufficient depth to allow just enough soil for properly covering the seed.—N. Y. Times.

The Agricultural College of the various States that have a farm at-tached should begin a systematic and continuous effort to develop new and different kinds of fruits, and by in-terchanging find out what sorts have the most extended field of usefulness; one new sort of any kind of fruit, es-pecially the apple, will alone pay the expenses a million fold.—St. Louis Globe.

Herbs for winter use should be gathered when the plants are in flower; just as the flowers begin to fade is considered to be the best time to harvest them. The herb garden was formerly of greater domestic im-portance than it is in these days of patent medicines, but whether this change is an advantage to health may well be questioned. To dry herbs it is best to tie them in small bundles and hang them up in airy sheds.—Washington Tribune.

Mr. J. H. Comstock, formerly en-tomologist to the National Depart-ment of Agriculture, has come to the conclusion, after much experiment-ing, that common soap is the cheap-est, safest and most effectual remedy for scale insects which infest the bark and foliage of trees and shrub-bery. He recommends using one-fourth of a pound of common bar soap to a gallon of water, applying the solution with a hard-pump or syringe, and repeating the applica-tion after an interval of a few days.—N. Y. Examiner.

The farmer and the farmer's boy need more than any one else to learn to know their friends from their enemies in the insect world, the lower grades of animal and bird life. Entomology is a science which in its practical application should be taught in all our primary schools. As a rule, if a war is made upon insects, it is a blind attack, and our friends and enemies are alike indis-criminately slain. Every farmer boy should know that the toad should be saved, while he may with impunity slay the snake.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Oh, My Back!
That's a common expres-sion and has a world of meaning. How much suf-fering is summed up in it.

The singular thing about it is, that pain in the back is occasioned by so many things. May be caused by kidney disease, liver com-plaint, consumption, cold, rheumatism, dyspepsia, over-work, nervous debility, &c.

Whatever the cause, don't neglect it. Something is wrong and needs prompt attention. No medicine has yet been discovered that will so quickly and surely cure such diseases as BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, and it does this by commencing at the foundation, and mak-ing the blood pure and rich.

Logansport, Ind. Dec. 1, 1880.
For a long time I have been a sufferer from stomach and kidney disease. My appetite was very poor and the very small amount I did eat disagreed with me. I was annoyed very much from non-retention of urine. I tried many remedies with no success, until I used Brown's Iron Bitters. Since I used it my stomach does not bother me any more. My appetite is now normal, my kidney trouble is no more, and my general health is such, that I feel like a new man. After the use of Brown's Iron Bitters for one month, I have gained twenty pounds in weight. O. R. SANCER.

Leading physicians and clergymen use and recom-mend BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. It has cured others suffering as you are, and it will cure you.

With such assistant instructors as the exigencies of the School may require.

The chief work of the School is done by the Senior Principal and his two sons. The important work is given to as-sistant instructors, who are selected with especial reference to their peculiar fitness for the duties assigned them; and the number of students will not be increased beyond the capacity of the Principals to take personal charge of all the classes in the leading branches taught, and to su-pervise all the work of the School.

The School has been under its present management for more than THIRTY YEARS, and in this sense, it is, we believe, the oldest school in the South.

As several of the Cadets will leave for College, there will be room next Session for about twenty new students.

For Catalogue apply to the Principals, J. H. & J. C. HORNER.
